

Jon McInnes Managing Director

As Managing Director of HYD Advisory, I am the driving force behind the continuing growth and success of our business. I bring the essential (but often overlooked) elements of innovation, systems, structure and a drive for continual improvement to every aspect of our business.

As a leader in the accounting and financial services field, I am often asked to speak at events focused on; business development, business structuring and tax minimisation. This has seen me become a reference point for peers and alliance partners, and a trusted professional in our industry.

With extensive experience in property development, I understand the intricacies of the industry from a variety of perspectives. My technical expertise in both property investment and development has seen me become a trusted adviser to many property development groups with diverse business structures.

Specialising in complex group structures, I help our high-end clients navigate the complex world of business structures and finance. I always maintain a strong focus on asset protection and tax effective structuring for all of my commercial and individual clients.

I work with many industries, across the full spectrum of the business life cycle from start-up phase right through to business succession and the exit phase.
